

2022 KINDERGARTEN ENTRY ASSESSMENT

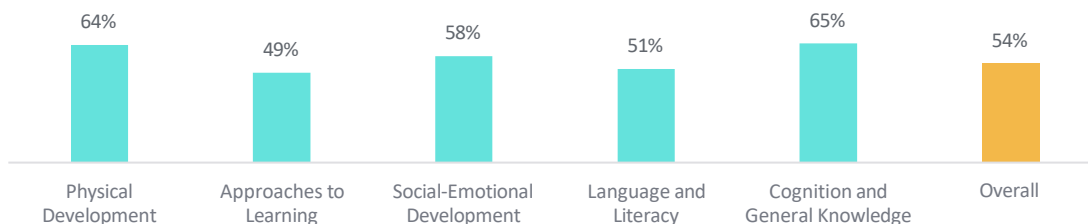

Kindergarten Observation Form Results

The Department's Office of Childhood and its vendor Applied Survey Research (ASR) conducted a second pilot year of the Kindergarten Entry Assessment (KEA) in the Fall of 2022. A total of 406 schools and 1,250 classrooms across 212 school districts completed 22,772 Kindergarten Observation Forms (KOFs). The table at the end of this report shows the number of classrooms participating and KOFs completed per school. In addition, preschool teachers Smithton R-VI completed preschool versions of the KOF; these data are not included in this summary.

The chart below displays the percentage of children ready for kindergarten in each of the five readiness domains. A child is ready in a domain if they scored 3.25 or higher (out of 4 possible) and ready overall if their overall average score across items was 3.25 or higher. More than half (54%) of children assessed were ready for kindergarten overall, with readiness levels highest in Cognition and General Knowledge (65%) and Physical Development (64%) and lowest in Language and Literacy (51%) and Approaches to Learning (49%).

N = 22,645-22,723. Note: Students with an average score of at least 3.25 out of 4 are considered "ready" for kindergarten. Students without valid domain scores are omitted from the analysis.

The chart below shows the average score for each readiness skill. Mean scores were generally higher in the Cognition and General Knowledge and Physical Development domains and lower in the Language and Literacy domain.

N = 22,025-22,730. Note: Scores range from 1 = "Not Yet" to 4 = "Proficient".
